No, unfortunately the auditors are going to miss the legal deadline (due to their own internal issues), and we are just hopeful we can get the audit by July 31 at this point. They realize they've severely jeopardized their relationship with Levy County by this....but we are one of many counties they've angered this year. Alachua County normally gets theirs by March 31, but just got the 2017 CAFR last week. I knew when I heard Alachua County didn't have theirs by mid June that we'd miss the deadline.

I've informed the State CFO Office, our Bond Agent, the Auditor General, and FDOT, that we'd be late. You can either forward any requester this email, or ask them to email me and I can field questions.
